EducationDoctor of Philosophy (PhD) in Islamic Jurisprudence and Principles (Fiqh and Usul)

Universiti Malaya (UM), Malaysia.

Faculty: Academy of Islamic Studies.

Thesis Title: Determination of al-Hajah and al-Darurah: An Analysis from Juristic and Maqasid Study (English).

Overview of the Thesis

The study addresses the need for a precise alignment of the concept of darurah and hajah in attaining maslahah with the principles of maqasid al-Shari'ah within the context of Islamic Banking and Finance. This alignment is crucial due to ongoing debates regarding the proper application of darurah and hajah in pursuing the maslahah within IBF. Through an in-depth analysis of various Islamic financial contracts, the study showcases specific shortcomings in how darurah and hajah are currently applied in the industry. The findings highlight several factors that contribute to these shortcomings. In response, the thesis – after rigorous analyses – proposes new frameworks for product development and the categories of darurah and hajah to better suit the needs of the global IBF industry.
